Bancroft Special Comes 539 Miles in 576 Minutes, Establishing New Record.

The special train bearing W. H. Bancroft, general manager of the Oregon Short Line, who was returning from a trip to Mexico, eclipsed all record from Sparks, Nev., to Ogden. The original schedule called for the train to leave Sparks at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, but it left there twenty-four minutes late and arrived at Ogden on time at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. In figuring out the actual time consumed in the run to this place and allowing for the train running slow over the Ogden-Lucin cut-off, it is figured that the train maintained over sixty-five miles per hour. The run from Montello to Ogden, a distance of a little over 123 miles, which terrifory includes the cut-off, was made in 132 minutes. Five hundred and seventy-six minutes were consumed in covering the entire distance consumed in covering the entire distance of 539 miles, and notwithstanding the slackening up in speed in pulling through the Ogden yards the thirty-seven miles from Ogden to Salt Lake was covered in thirty-four minues. The train consisted of five cars and has established a new record for fast time on the Southern Pa-

A competent sten-ographer need not be out of employnorant of a correct method. It matters not what business a young man may engage in, there will come a time when such a knowledge will be of the great-est value to him. No one need expect to fill any place of public trust who is destitute of the knowledge of BOOK-

KEEPING. No matter what it costs, it will be the best investment, any young man can make if he ever expects to superintend his own personal affairs.

So if he pay a hundred or two hundred dollars for a commercial education, he is abundantly sure of getting it back, and ten times over, should he live to be 50 years old."—Chancellor James

Some acquire proficiency in a few months, others take a year. The average time required is about six months. Two courses in TELEGRAPHY are given. One prepares the atudent for Railroad Station service, and the other for Commercial Telegraph service. These courses are thorough and practical. The school is equipped with the apparatus that is used in telegraph of-fices. The blanks and books are identical with those of railroad and telegraph companies. Steady employment in some line of promotion is perhaps young person can have.
